

New York City Department of Education Teaching Opportunities

Dear University of Redlands Students,

For those of you who are thinking about your next steps after graduation, fret not, the NYC Department of Education has some exciting upcoming events!

- Fun informative Video. Please watch this short and helpful video to provide an overview of the NYC Department of Education teacher application process.
- Online Info Sessions and Teacher Chats. These sessions provide useful information about the application process, navigating the job search, and teaching in our schools. See the upcoming webinars below:

Recruiter Chat	Thursday, June 8, 2017	5:00-6:00pm
Online Info Sessions	Tuesday, June 20, 2017	5:30 - 6:30pm
Teacher Chat	Tuesday, June 27, 2017	5:00 - 6:00pm

As a reminder, the application to teach in the New York City Department of Education (teachnyc.net) is SEPARATE from your certification application with New York State (nysed.gov). If you are interested in teaching in New York City, you should complete our teacher application (teachnyc.net) as soon as possible to notify us of your interest and begin your job search. You should not wait until all of your certification requirements (exams, workshops, etc.) are complete to apply to TeachNYC! As long as you are on track to receive your certification by September 5th, 2017, you should submit your New York City teacher application as soon as possible.

The final application deadline is June 21st! The earlier you apply, the earlier you will receive access to job search resources and hiring events!

For additional questions or concerns, email teachnyc@schools.nyc.gov or contact HR Connect at 718-935-4000.