

“Serving the English Learners and Special Needs Students in a Multicultural Setting”

Presented by the Center for Educational Justice and F.I.E.

February 16, 2012 - 6:00pm - Gregory Hall 161

- What educational services do we currently have for our English learners and students with special needs?
- How can we facilitate classroom engagement for English learners and students with special needs?
- How are the issues of social class and culture influence the academic achievement of English learners and students with special needs?
- How can non-English speaking parents help their children learn to read and perform better at school?
- What improvements in our current schooling practices need to be addressed to serve all students better including the English learners and special needs students?

PANELISTS:

Dr. Barbara Flores, Professor, California State University, San Bernardino; School Board President, San Bernardino City Unified School District

Dr. Susan Porter, Assistant Professor of Special Education and Teacher Education, University of Redlands

Dr. Jose Lalas, Professor, University of Redlands; School Board Member, Corona-Norco Unified School District

Dr. Ayanna Balogun, Teacher, Rialto Unified School District

To RSVP please contact Martin Bright at (909) 748-8815 or via email at martin_bright@redlands.edu.

University of Redlands

1200 E. Colton Avenue
P.O. Box 3080
Redlands, CA 92373

Phone: 909 748 8792
Fax: 909 335 5204
www.redlands.edu

UNIVERSITY OF Redlands
SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
Education +