It's your senior year. You're taking a full roster of classes, designing senior projects, working on departmental capstones, creating community events, and conceptualizing an integrated semester. At the same time, you are also figuring out your future, applying to internships, jobs, and graduate schools, not to mention figuring out where you are going to live. On top of this, there are numerous Johnston rituals—Graduation Reviews, Senior Dinner, and Commencement—that require a lot of attention to detail and paperwork.

Last, but hardly least, is your Graduation Contract, the essential document that defines your Johnston education for multiple audiences. Eeek! This is a lot to do and, because commencement is at the end of spring semester, most of this graduation related work is due before January. Yes, January! Wouldn't it be great if you had a weekly space dedicated to getting this work done? Alas, there is one! We'll take care of all the work that needs to get done—addendum forms, graduation documents, and graduation narratives. Additionally, we'll talk about how to make the most of your senior year and projects, how to deal with missing evaluations, and how to address stipulations in a meaningful way. Finally, we'll work together to make sure that graduation is the best it can be as mentors who leave a Johnston legacy.

NOTE: To all rising seniors: you will be automatically enrolled in Fall 2020 Graduation Planning Committee on M 4-5. If you have a conflict with this time, it is your responsibility to drop the class and make alternative arrangements with your advisor for how to complete your graduation-related work in a timely manner.
