

UNIVERSITY OF REDLANDS

Code of Student Conduct

1) PURPOSE

Being a member of the University of Redlands community is a privilege. As with all privileges, it comes with responsibilities. This document explains some of those responsibilities and the procedures through which the University addresses potential breaches of those responsibilities. The policies herein exist to create an environment that fosters student wellbeing and academic success.

The Office of Student Conduct is tasked with determining if violations of law or University policies have occurred, and helping to determine an appropriate response for the good of both the community and the individual. Above all, the student conduct process is educational. It is a process that honors individuality and free choice, and seeks to cultivate student growth and development through experience. The core values embodied in the Code of Student Conduct include integrity, fairness, respect, community, and responsibility.

The University of Redlands also has an obligation to uphold the laws of the larger community. While the activities covered by the laws of the larger community and those covered by the University of Redlands' rules may overlap, it is important to note that the community's laws and the University of Redlands' rules operate independently and that they do not substitute for each other. Students should be aware that the student conduct process is quite different from criminal and civil court proceedings. Procedures and rights in student conduct proceedings are conducted with fairness to all, but do not include the same due process afforded by the courts.

The University makes no attempt to shield members of the University community from the law, nor does it intervene in legal proceedings against a member of the community. Membership in the University community does not exempt anyone from local, state, or federal laws, but rather imposes the additional obligation to abide by all the University of Redlands' policies.

The longer someone waits to report an offense, the harder it becomes for the University of Redlands to obtain information and witness statements, and to make a determination regarding alleged violations. Those who are aware of misconduct are encouraged to report it as quickly as possible to the Office of Student Life and/or Public Safety.

2) JURISDICTION OVER STUDENT CONDUCT

Students at The University of Redlands are annually provided access to or upon request given a copy of the Code of Student Conduct. Students are charged with the responsibility of having read, and agreeing to abide by, the provisions of the Code of Student Conduct and the authority of the student conduct process. The Code of Student Conduct and the student conduct process apply to the conduct of individual students and University-affiliated student organizations.

Because the Code of Student Conduct is based on shared values, it sets a range of expectations for the University of Redlands student no matter where or when their conduct may take place (e.g. Study Abroad). Therefore, the Code of Student Conduct will apply to behaviors that take place on the campus, at University-sponsored events, and may also apply off-campus, when the administrator determines that the off-campus conduct affects a substantial University interest. A substantial University interest is defined to include:

- A) Any action that constitutes a criminal offense as defined by California law. This includes first time and/or repeat violations of any local, state or federal law committed in the municipality where the University is located.
- B) Any situation where it appears the student may present a danger or threat to the health or safety of him/herself or others.
- C) Any situation that significantly infringes upon the rights, property or achievements of self or others or significantly breaches the peace and/or causes social disorder.
- D) Any situation that is detrimental to the educational interests of the University.

The Code of Student Conduct may be applied to conduct that takes place during the time a person is enrolled as a student, including all University breaks and between semesters. Further, the Code of Student Conduct applies to guests of community members, whose hosts may be held accountable for the misconduct of their guests. Visitors to and guests of The University of Redlands are also protected by the Code of Student Conduct, and may initiate grievances for violations of the Code of Student Conduct committed by members of the University of Redlands community against them.

The University of Redlands may also extend its jurisdiction to misconduct that occurs prior to, but is not reported until after the graduation of the offending student. Any such misconduct will not subject the violator to normal conduct proceedings, but will subject him or her to special proceedings for the revocation of a degree (Section 12.A.1).

3) SPECIAL PROVISIONS

In most circumstances, the University of Redlands will treat attempts to commit any of the violations listed in the Code of Student Conduct as if those attempts had been completed.

When members of groups, individuals acting collusively, or members of an organization act in concert in violation of any policy, they may be held accountable as a group in addition to any individual accountability. A hearing may proceed against the member(s) of the group who may be involved in the violation as joint respondents.

The University of Redlands community encourages the reporting of crimes by victims. Sometimes, victims are hesitant to report to University officials because they fear that they themselves may be charged with policy violations, such as underage drinking at the time of the incident. To encourage reporting, The University of Redlands pursues the possibility of offering victims of crimes immunity from Code of Student Conduct violations related to the incident.

The welfare of members of our community is of paramount importance. At times, community members on and off-campus may need assistance. The University of Redlands encourages all students to offer help and assistance to others in need. Sometimes, a student may be hesitant to offer assistance to others, for fear that they may get into trouble (for example, a student who has been drinking underage might hesitate to help take a sexual misconduct victim to the Public Safety Office). The University of Redlands pursues the possibility of limited immunity for those who offer help to others in need. While policy violations cannot be overlooked, the University will provide educational options, rather than sanctions, to those who offer their assistance to others in need.

BB) “Procedural fairness” means the respondent(s) will have notice of a complaint at or before an informal, non-adversarial meeting with the Administrator, or designee, in which the student will be given the opportunity to respond to any information pertaining to the complaint filed against them.

5) INTERPRETATION OF POLICIES AND DEFINITIONS

This code and University policies are provided to give students general notice of conduct expectations. This code and University policies should be read broadly and are not intended to define misconduct in exhaustive terms.

6) INHERENT AUTHORITY

Email is the way in which the University communicates with students. Therefore, students are responsible for regularly checking their University of Redlands email and are expected to respond forthwith to requests, directions and directives from University officials acting in the performance of their duties. Failure to do so can result in various consequences, including sanctions for failure to comply (Section 12.A.7.d).

7) COMPLAINTS / NOTICE

Any person may make a complaint/notice to the Administrator and/or Public Safety, orally or in writing about a student, student group, and/or organization suspected of violating this code or University policies. Persons making such complaints will normally be expected to appear before a Board hearing as the complainant. The University may stand in lieu of the reporting party as the complainant at the election of the reporting party, who may still need to share information as a witness.

- A) Filing of complaints: Any member of the University community, guest or visitor, may file a complaint against a student alleging a violation of the Code of Student Conduct.
 - 1) At the request of any guest, visitor, student, faculty, or staff member, or acting independently, the University may file a complaint against any student according to the standards established by the Code of Student Conduct alleging a violation of the Code.
- B) Consolidation: Where more than one student is involved in a single occurrence or connected multiple occurrences, a single hearing may be held for all the students involved. Students may request that their complaint be consolidated with others, or separated from others. The Administrator will make determinations regarding consolidation, however, the separation of one or more complaints from a group of complaints will not be considered to affect the remaining complaints in the group.

8) APPLICABILITY OF CODE /
FOCUS OF INQUIRY

- A) This code does not apply to any admissions decision or any decisions made by the University for academic reasons. The University prohibits all forms of academic dishonesty, but such violations are under the jurisdiction of the Academic Review Board.
 - 1) This code does not govern the activities of the Academic Review Board.
 - 2) This code does not apply to any student in the School of Business or School of Education, as they have their own Code.
- B) The focus of inquiry in student conduct proceedings will be determining whether students are “responsible” or “not responsible” for violating this code or University policy, and to assign any applicable sanctions. Deviations from prescribed procedures (including time deadlines) will not invalidate a decision or proceeding, unless significant prejudice to a student or the University would result.
- C) Should a student withdraw from the University with a pending conduct complaint, it is the typical practice of the University to pursue investigation and resolution of the campus complaint, regardless of the fact that the student has withdrawn. If the student is found responsible for violation of the Code of Student Conduct, a hold will be placed restricting the ability of the student to re-enroll until all sanctions have been satisfied.

9) VIOLATIONS OF LAW AND THIS CODE

Violations of federal, state and local laws are incorporated as offenses under the Code of Student Conduct. When an offense occurs over which the University has jurisdiction, the University conduct process will usually go forward notwithstanding any criminal charges that may arise from the same incident. University proceedings will not be subject to challenge because criminal charges involving the same incident have been dismissed or reduced.

When a student is accused, arrested, charged or indicted for a crime-committed off-campus, the University may elect to take action for violations of the Code of Student Conduct, which incorporates violation of local, state and federal laws as code infractions.

When criminal charges are pending for any felony and/or misdemeanor, the University may be delayed or prevented from conducting its own investigation, and moving forward with a campus hearing. In such cases, the University may choose to delay its hearing until it can conduct an internal investigation, or obtain from law enforcement sufficient information upon which to proceed. In cases that fall within the protections of Title IX as sex or gender discrimination, delays of no longer than 10-14 days will allow for law enforcement evidence gathering, but the University process cannot be delayed beyond that unless all parties agree, or when requested by the Conduct Administrator because the evidence gathering phase by law enforcement extends beyond the timeframe identified above.

The University of Redlands may pursue enforcement of its own rules whether or not legal proceedings are underway or in prospect, and may use information from third party sources, such as law enforcement agencies, news agencies, and the courts, to assist in determining whether University rules have been broken.

10) CONDUCT EXPECTATIONS

The University of Redlands community is committed to fostering a campus environment that is conducive to academic inquiry, productive campus life, and thoughtful study and discourse. The University prohibits all forms of academic dishonesty, but such violations are under the jurisdiction of the Academic Review Board (see University Catalog). A community exists based on shared values and principles. At the University of Redlands, student members of the community are expected to uphold and abide by certain policies, rules and standards of conduct that form the basis of the Code of Student Conduct. These policies, rules and standards are embodied within a set of core values that include integrity, fairness, respect, community and responsibility. When students of the community fail to exemplify these values, campus conduct proceedings are used to assert and uphold the Code of Student Conduct.

11) EXPECTATIONS AND POLICY
STATEMENTS ON TITLE IX:
DISCRIMINATION, HARASSMENT, SEXUAL MISCONDUCT, AND RETALIATION

A) Discrimination, Intimidation, Harassment and Bias-Related Incidents Policy

The University of Redlands affirms the principle that guests, visitors, students, faculty and staff have a right to be free from any type of discrimination or intimidation by any member of the University community or their guest(s) with respect to nationality, national origin, sexual orientation/preference, racial or ethnic background, religious beliefs, disability, sex, gender, gender identity, or age. Discrimination, intimidation, harassment, and bias-related incidents, in any form, are unacceptable conduct because they create a hostile environment by depriving the recipient of educational or employment access and/or opportunities, including peaceful enjoyment of our residential campus.

Any member of the campus community, guest or visitor who acts to deny, deprive or limit the educational, employment, [residential] and/or social access, benefits and/or opportunities of any member of the campus community on the basis of their actual or perceived membership in the protected classes listed above is in violation of the University policy on nondiscrimination. When brought to the attention of the University, any such discrimination will be appropriately remedied by the University according to the procedures below.

University Policy on Discriminatory Harassment

Students, staff, administrators, and faculty are entitled to a professional working and educational environment, and University is committed to providing a work and educational environment free of discriminatory harassment. Consistent with the University’s policy on academic freedom (see Faculty Handbook), University’s harassment policy is not meant to inhibit or prohibit educational content or discussions inside or outside of the classroom that include germane, but controversial or sensitive subject matters. The sections below describe the specific forms of legally prohibited harassment that are also prohibited under University policy.

a. Discriminatory and Bias-Related Harassment

Harassment constitutes a form of discrimination that is prohibited by law. The University's harassment policy explicitly prohibits any form of harassment on the basis of actual or perceived membership in a protected class, by any member or group of the community, which creates a hostile environment, both objectively and subjectively.

A hostile environment may be created by oral, written, graphic, or physical conduct that is sufficiently severe, persistent or pervasive and objectively offensive so as to interfere with, limit or deny the ability of an individual to participate in or benefit from educational programs or activities or employment access, benefits or opportunities. Merely offensive conduct and/or harassment of a generic nature not on the basis of a protected status is not prohibited by University policy, and should be addressed with civil confrontation or effective conflict resolution mechanisms.

b. Sexual Harassment

Sexual Harassment is:

- unwelcome, sexual or gender-based verbal, written or physical conduct that is,
- sufficiently severe, persistent or pervasive and objectively offensive that it, has the effect of unreasonably interfering with, denying or limiting employment opportunities or the ability to participate in or benefit from the University's educational, social and/or residential program, and is either,
- based on power differentials (quid pro quo), the creation of a hostile environment, or retaliation.

c. Sexual Misconduct

State law defines various violent and/or non-consensual sexual acts as crimes (see Annual Security Report). Additionally, University has defined categories of sexual misconduct, as stated below, for which action under this policy may be imposed. Generally speaking, University considers Non-Consensual Sexual Intercourse violations to be the most serious, and therefore typically imposes the most severe sanctions, including suspension or expulsion for students and termination for employees. However, University reserves the right to impose any level of sanction, up to and including suspension or expulsion/termination for any act of sexual misconduct or other gender-based offenses based on the facts and circumstances of the particular complaint. Acts of sexual misconduct may be committed by any person upon any other person, regardless of the sex, gender, sexual orientation and/or gender identity of those involved. Violations include

i. Sexual Harassment (as defined above)

ii. Non-Consensual Sexual Intercourse

Defined as:

- any sexual penetration or intercourse (anal, oral or vaginal),
- however slight,
- with any object,
- by a person upon another person,
- that is without consent and/or by force.

Sexual penetration includes vaginal or anal penetration by a penis, tongue, finger or object, and/or body part or oral copulation by mouth to genital contact or genital to mouth contact.

iii. Non-Consensual Sexual Contact

Defined as:

- any intentional sexual touching,
- however slight,
- with any object and/or body part
- by a person upon another person
- that is without consent and/or by force.

Sexual touching includes any bodily contact with the breasts, groin, genitals, mouth or other bodily orifice of another individual, or any other bodily contact in a sexual manner.

iv. Sexual Exploitation

Sexual Exploitation refers to a situation in which a person takes non-consensual or abusive sexual advantage of another, and situations in which the conduct does not fall within the definitions of Sexual Harassment, Non-Consensual Sexual Intercourse or Non-Consensual Sexual Contact. Examples of sexual exploitation include, but are not limited to:

- Sexual voyeurism (such as watching a person undressing, using the bathroom or engaged in sexual acts without the consent of the person observed).
- Taking pictures or video or audio recording another in a sexual act, or in any other private activity without the consent of all involved in the activity, or exceeding the boundaries of consent (such as allowing another person to hide in a closet and observe sexual activity, or disseminating sexual pictures without the photographed person's consent).
- Prostitution and/or solicitation.
- Sexual Exploitation also includes engaging in sexual activity with another person while knowingly infected with human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) or other sexually transmitted disease (STD) and without informing the other person of the infection, and further includes administering alcohol or drugs (such as "date rape" drugs) to another person without his or her knowledge or consent.

Affirmative Consent

Affirmative Consent is knowing, voluntary and clear permission by word or action, to engage in mutually agreed upon sexual activity. Since individuals may experience the same interaction in different ways, it is the responsibility of each party to make certain that the other has consented before engaging in the activity. For consent to be valid, there must be a clear expression in words or actions that the other individual consented to that specific sexual activity. When there are no words or actions indicating permission or consent, there can be no valid consent.

A person cannot consent if he or she is unable to understand what is happening or is disoriented, helpless, asleep, or unconscious for any reason, including due to alcohol or other drugs. An individual who engages in sexual activity when the individual knows, or should know, that the other person is physically or mentally incapacitated has violated this policy. It is not an excuse that the respondent of sexual misconduct was intoxicated and, therefore, did not realize the incapacity of the other.

Incapacitation is defined as a state where someone cannot make rational, reasonable decisions because they lack the capacity to give knowing consent (e.g., to understand the "who, what, when, where, why or how" of their sexual interaction). This policy also covers a person whose incapacity results from mental disability, involuntary physical restraint, and/or from the taking of incapacitating drugs.

Consent to some sexual activity (such as kissing or fondling) cannot be presumed to be consent for other sexual activity (such as intercourse). A current or previous dating relationship is not sufficient to constitute consent. The existence of consent is based on the totality of the circumstances, including the context in which the alleged incident occurred and any similar previous patterns that may be evidenced. A person can withdraw consent at any time during sexual activity by expressing in words or actions that he or she no longer wants the act to continue, and, if that happens, the other person must stop immediately.

Coercion involves the application of an unreasonable amount of pressure on someone to say yes, in circumstances in which the person would not have said yes had he/she not endured a long period of convincing. Coercion is evaluated based on the intensity, frequency, and duration of comments or actions. It exists when a sexual initiator engages in physical or emotional manipulation to persuade someone to do something sexual that he/she does not want to do.

In California, a minor (meaning a person under the age of 18 years) cannot consent to sexual activity. This means that sexual contact by an adult with a person younger than 18 years old is a crime as well as a violation of this policy, even if the minor wanted to engage in the act.

Other Misconduct Offenses

- a. Threatening or causing physical harm, extreme verbal abuse, or other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of any person on the basis of their actual or perceived membership in a protected class (see Annual Security Report);
- b. Discrimination, defined as actions that deprive other members of the community of educational or employment access, benefits or opportunities on the basis of their actual or perceived membership in a protected class;
- c. Intimidation, defined as implied threats or acts that cause an unreasonable fear of harm in another on the basis of actual or perceived membership in a protected class;
- d. Hazing, defined as acts likely to cause physical or psychological harm or social ostracism to any person within the University community, when related to the admission, initiation, pledging, joining, or any other group-affiliation activity (see University Policy Handbook: Hazing Policy) on the basis of actual or perceived membership in a protected class; Hazing is also illegal under California law and prohibited by University policy.
- e. Bullying, defined as repeated and/or severe aggressive behavior likely to intimidate or intentionally hurt, control or diminish another person, physically or mentally on the basis of actual or perceived membership in a protected class;
- f. Violence between those in an intimate relationship to each other (this includes romantic relationships, domestic and/or relationship violence) (see Annual Security Report);
- g. Stalking, defined as engaging in a course of conduct directed a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for their safety or the safety of others, or suffer substantial emotional distress. Any other University rules, when a violation is motivated by the actual or perceived membership of the victim in a protected class, may be pursued using this policy and process.

Retaliation

Retaliation is defined as any adverse action taken against a person participating in a protected activity because of their participation in that protected activity. Retaliation against an individual for alleging harassment, supporting a complainant or for assisting in providing information relevant to a claim of harassment is a serious violation of University/College policy and will be treated as another possible instance of harassment or discrimination. Acts of alleged retaliation should be reported immediately to the Title IX Coordinator and will be promptly investigated. The University is prepared to take appropriate steps to protect individuals who fear that they may be subjected to retaliation.

Remedial Action

University will implement initial remedial and responsive actions upon notice of alleged harassment, retaliation, and/or discrimination, and will take additional prompt remedial and/or disciplinary action with respect to any member of the community, guest, or visitor who has been found to engage in harassing or discriminatory behavior or retaliation. Procedures for handling reported incidents are fully described below. Deliberately false and/or malicious accusations of harassment, as opposed to complaints which, even if erroneous, are made in good faith, are just as serious an offense as harassment and will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action.

B) Gambling Policy

Students are expected to abide by the federal laws and the laws of the State of California prohibiting illegal gambling. Gambling for money or other things of value on campus or at University-sponsored activities is prohibited.

Such prohibited activity includes, but is not limited to, betting on, wagering on, or selling pools on any University athletic event; possessing on one's person or premises (e.g., room, residence unit, car) any card, book or other device for registering bets; knowingly permitting the use of one's premises or one's telephone or other electronic communications device for illegal gambling; knowingly receiving or delivering a letter, package or parcel related to illegal gambling; offering, soliciting or accepting a bribe to influence the outcome of an athletic event; and, involvement in bookmaking or wagering pools with respect to sporting events.

C) Hazing

Allegations of hazing will be reported to the University's Department of Public Safety. In the event of a finding of "Responsible", the Department of Public Safety will notify the Redlands Police Department, as required by law.

12) SANCTIONS

A) One or more of the following sanctions may be imposed for violations of this code or University policies:

- 1) DEGREE REVOCATION: Students who are expelled post-graduation are subject to having their degree revoked. They lose the right to claim graduation from the University of Redlands, or to hold themselves out as graduates. Notations will be indicated on their transcript accordingly. Students who are suspended post-graduation are subject to having their diploma and/or degree withheld until the suspension is complete. These proceedings will only be convened if the offense alleged would have subjected the violator to suspension or expulsion if reported prior to graduation. These proceedings include notice and a hearing before the Critical Issues Board. The only sanction possible is degree revocation.
- 2) EXPULSION: Permanent separation of the student from the University. Permanent notation will appear on the student's transcript. The student also may be barred from University premises and University-sponsored events.
- 3) SUSPENSION: Separation of the student from the University for a specified time. Notice will appear on the student's transcript during the period of suspension. Formal reapplication to the University also may be required following completion of the suspension period. The letter of suspension will be held in the student's conduct file for a specified time.
- 4) CONDUCT PROBATION: Conduct probation is a final and formal warning status issued by the University to the student. Further violations of the Code resulting in a finding of "responsible" should result in suspension or expulsion unless mitigating circumstances or information is identified. Additional restrictions or conditions also may be imposed. Notification will be sent to appropriate University offices, and will be carried in the student's conduct file for a designated time.

- 5) CONDUCT REPRIMAND: The student is warned that further misconduct may result in more severe sanctions. The reprimand will indicate that continuation or repetition of specific conduct may be grounds for other sanctions. The letter of reprimand will be carried in the student's conduct file for a designated time.
 - 6) RESTITUTION: The student is required to make payment to the University and/or to other persons, groups, or organizations for damage incurred as a result of a violation of this code or University policies. Damages will include not only direct costs of items involved but also indirect costs of University personnel involved.

 - (ii) An automatic fine of $100 will be assessed for each incident of non-compliance; and/or
 - (iii) The student will accept a finding of "responsible" and the respondent automatically accepts any sanctions determined by the Conduct Authority; and/or
 - (iv) Other sanctions may be imposed as well.
 - (e) No student will receive a diploma while a complaint brought against him/her is pending before an Administrative Hearing or the Critical Issues Board. No student will receive a diploma without first fulfilling the terms of a conduct sanction. Participation in the graduation ceremony is at the discretion of the Administrator.
 - (f) Confiscation: confiscation for a specified time, of property or materials used in violation of University policies.
 - (g) Statements of understanding: are signed (or mediated) statements that students will abide by all University rules, and policies or specific practices, with the understanding that violation of any rule, regulation, or agreement will result in further sanctions.
 - (h) Referral of student to a recognized professional practitioner for evaluation of behavior. In addition to the assessment, the Administrator, or an official designate, will interview the student to determine if conduct action is needed. (e.g., suicidal, acts of violence, severe depression, or other emotional distress or concerns).
- B) Certain violations of this code or University policies may result in suspension or expulsion unless specific and significant mitigating factors are present. This can include first time and/or repeated violations. (The list of examples follows as an illustration only and is not meant to be exhaustive.) The presence or involvement of alcohol or drugs will not constitute a mitigating factor.

- 1) Incidents of violence, sexual misconduct, and sexual harassment.

Such interim suspension becomes effective immediately whenever there is information that the continued presence of a student on University premises or at University sponsored activities poses a substantial threat to himself, herself or others, or to the stability and continuance of normal University functions. There may also be circumstances in which it is necessary to invoke an interim suspension in furtherance of an ongoing investigation into a conduct code violation and/or a violation of state law
- B) A student suspended on an interim basis will be given the opportunity to appear before the Administrator within three (3) business days from the effective date of the interim suspension. An informal conference will be held on the following issues only:
- 1) The reliability of the information concerning the student's conduct, including the matter of his or her identity.
 - 2) The question as to whether the conduct and surrounding circumstances reasonably indicate that the continued presence of the student on University premises or at University-sponsored activities poses a substantial threat to himself, herself, others, or to the stability and continuance of University functions. In any complaints covered by Title IX (sexual misconduct, sexual harassment, stalking, etc.), the complainant will be given the opportunity to address the appropriateness of interim suspension, as well.
 - 3) Respondent(s) who fail to appear at this informal conference are in violation of the Code of Student Conduct for failure to comply with the instructions of a University official, and will be subject to the sanctions outlined in Section 12.A.7.d.

If the respondent accepts responsibility, the complaint will be referred to an Administrative Hearing (Section 20). If the respondent denies responsibility for the alleged violations, the Administrator or designee may refer the complaint to an Administrative Hearing or the Presiding Officer of the Critical Issues Board.
- C) In the event the complaint is referred to an Administrative Hearing, the full range of sanctions authorized by this Code may be imposed by the Administrator. The Administrator will inform the student that sanctions issued in an Administrative Hearing are not subject to appeal. Respondent(s) who fail to appear for an Administrative Hearing are in violation of the Code of Student Conduct for failure to comply with the instructions of a University Official, and will be subject to the sanctions outlined in Section 12.A.7.d.
- D) The Administrator has the prerogative on behalf of the University to file a complaint or provide testimony for an individual without the individual appearing or his or her name being known, so long as the Administrator is not responsible for hearing the case, if:

If the student(s) accepts responsibility, or is/are deemed responsible, appropriate sanctions will be administered.
- E) The Director of Student Conduct or designee will hear appeals of decisions from Conduct Conferences. A request for an appeal must be submitted in writing by the respondent within three (3) business days after reviewing the decision letter. Failure to request an appeal within this time will render the original finding and imposed sanctions final and conclusive. The Director of Student Conduct is the final appeal and will send written notice of the final outcome and sanctions, if any, to the respondent within ten (10) days.

17) JOHNSTON PEER COUNCIL

- A) Complaints of a violation(s) of University policy and Code of Student Conduct by Johnston students may be referred to the Johnston Peer Council by the Administrator or designee.

- C) Hearings will be held weekly at a predetermined time. A respondent may bring written statements and information, as well as material witnesses, upon notice of such to the Advisor. Failure to appear at the assigned time without reasonable notice will result in a plea of “responsible” and the respondent will be subject to the sanctions outlined in Section 12.A.7.d.
- D) Students subject to the Peer Review Board are afforded the following procedural protection:
- 1) Notification of the alleged misconduct and day and time of the scheduled hearing will be given to the respondent at least three (3) days prior to the hearing.

If they do not accept responsibility, the student(s) will then have the opportunity to respond to any information or jurisdiction pertaining to the complaint. The Peer Review Board will determine if it is more likely than not that, the information indicates a violation. If the student(s) accepts responsibility, or is deemed responsible, appropriate sanctions will be administered.
 - 3) The respondent will have an opportunity to present their information to the Peer Review Board and to respond to information against them. Information may consist of written statements, records and/or verbal testimony.
 - 4) Hearings will be closed to the public except for the Peer Review Board, the respondent, and any witnesses announced with prior approval of the Advisor.
 - 5) Within five (5) days after the Peer Review Board hears the complaint, the respondent will receive a letter summarizing the Board’s decision and possible sanctions.
- E) The Associate Dean of Student Life or designee will hear all requests for an appeal. Requests must be submitted in writing within three (3) business days after reviewing the letter from the Peer Review Board. - F) The respondent and the Advisor may have an informal conference at any time prior to or following the hearing to discuss procedure. However, this information will have no bearing on the decision of the Peer Review Board.

19) ORGANIZATIONAL MISCONDUCT INVESTIGATIONS

Allegations of organizational/team misconduct will initially be investigated by the Director of Student Conduct, or designee, with the assistance of additional Faculty, Staff, or Administrators, when necessary. Initial findings from the investigation will be presented to the VP/Dean Student Life (or designee) for review. Upon review, the VP/Dean Student Life (or designee) will determine if the initial findings warrant a dismissal, further investigation, or the referral of the complaint to the Organizational Misconduct Partnership Process, the Organizational Misconduct Board, or the Student Organization Board for resolution. Allegations of hazing and/or other organizational/team misconduct will be resolved only through one of the following avenues, at the direction of the VP/Dean Student Life (or designee):

A) The Student Organization Board will hear complaints regarding any law or University policy violations involving an organization or group. - 1) The officers, leaders, or identifiable representatives for a student group or organization may be directed by a University official to take appropriate action designed to prevent or end violations of this Code by the group or organization or by any persons associated with the group or organization who can be reasonably said to be acting in the group's or organization's behalf. Failure to make reasonable efforts to comply with the University official's directive will be considered a violation of this Code, both by the officers, leaders, or representatives for the group or organization and by the group or organization itself.
- 2) The Student Organization Board will determine sanctions. Sanctions for group or organization misconduct may include: censure, suspension of new member process (or other applicable procedures), suspension or recommendation of revocation of charter, or denial of recognition or registration, as well as other appropriate sanctions permitted under this Code (Section.12.A.7 and 12.B).
- 3) An organization and/or the Administrator (or designee) may request an appeal of a Student Organization Board decision to the, Director of Student Conduct, or the Associate Dean of Student Life, or designee.
- 4) In circumstances where urgent action is required, the VP/Dean Student Life (or designee), and/or the President of the University may determine whether a violation has occurred and implement immediate action, such as interim suspension, until the complaint can be heard.

B) The Organizational Misconduct Partnership Process is designed as a courtesy process allowing organizations and teams to initially accept responsibility for the alleged violations presented to them and consequently, working with the Office of Student Conduct to agree upon appropriate sanctions. The Organizational Misconduct Partnership Process does not allow for the appeal of findings or sanctions by any individual.

- 1) After having the case referred to the Organizational Misconduct Partnership Process, the Director of Student Conduct, or designee, will meet with representatives from the organization/team to discuss the alleged violations and share the initial findings.
- 2) Representatives of the organization/team will conduct an internal investigation of their members, with a self-report of their findings due to the Office of Student Conduct by the end of the third business day after being informed of the initial findings.
 - (i) Alleged violations referred to the Organizational Misconduct Partnership Process may be referred out of this method and into the Organizational Misconduct Board for resolution if the required self-report by the organization/team is not complete, contains false or misleading information, if the organization/team attempts to circumvent the student conduct process, or for any other reason at the discretion of the Director of Student Conduct, or designee.
- 3) The Director of Student Conduct, or designee, will make a final determination on each of the alleged violations and communicate the outcome to at least one of the representatives of the organization/team by the end of the third business day after the organization/team self-report is received by the Office of Student Conduct.
- 4) After notification of outcomes, if a finding of responsibility has been determined, the organization/team will work with the Director of Student Conduct, or designee, to identify appropriate sanctions.
 - (i) In the event an organization/team is unwilling to identify appropriate sanctions, the case will be referred, at the discretion of the Director of Student Conduct, or designee, to the Organizational Misconduct Board for resolution.

- 5) All outcomes and sanctions determined by the Director of Student Conduct, or designee, are not subject to appeal.
